The Artsy Ant Adventure Begins

Written by Sandy Harper

Artsy Ant sat straight up with such force his hat fell over his eyes! “Aha! I know my mission in life now,” he cried. “I must take my message far and wide, from here to there, and everywhere!” He had been quietly lying in his favorite spot, at the highest peak of The Hill, watching the clouds turn into different animals. Now, he was filled with such excitement he could no longer be quiet and still. “I’m on my way to help others!” he called out to the critters in the sky. “Just like Ant Alise helped me.”

As he ran down the mound to begin his new adventure, he remembered the day Ant Alise found him crying. “Look into my eyes, Artsy,” she softly said. “And, speak to me about your heart’s desire, for that is how we discover our true purpose in life.” “I told Mother Ant & Father Ant my wish to be a performer or an artist. I explained how much I love dancing, acting, singing, drawing, writing, and painting. But, they shook their heads and told me to become a Doctor, Lawyer, or Businessman instead,” Artsy sniffed.

Ant Alise gently held Artsy’s hands. “When you follow your dreams and never give up, you find true happiness. When you spend your days doing what you love, you become successful. Everyone who cares about you will be proud when they see that you’re happy, including your parents.” From that day forward, Artsy didn’t just follow his dreams, he CHASED his dreams! And, he has been living the life of his dreams ever since. He was known throughout The Hill as the most creative and inspiring ant of all.

Now he has a mission... to creatively inspire kids of all ages, all over the world. And he knows nothing is going to stand in his way!

Artsy Ant had never been outside The Hill before. He excitedly threw his backpack over his shoulder and tucked a notebook under his arm. He whistled his favorite song as he marched along the street made of pearls. He knew this was no ordinary road and couldn’t wait to see where it led.

Artsy stopped suddenly. “What is that strange noise?” he wondered. He looked around and saw nothing out of place. After a few cautious steps, he heard it again. It sounded like a giggle. A very high pitched and extremely fast giggle! “Hello. Is there anybody out there?” he tentatively asked.

“If parents were to buy one book in their child’s life, it should be Scott Howard’s ‘Artsy Ant Alphabet Art Adventures.’ Any child who is given this book at the age of 5, would still be enjoying it at the age of 12.”

- Chris Pritchard
